

INSTRUCTIONS:

Create the elements of this structure in the normal flow.

You can use borders, colors, and placeholder text to identify them as you desire. You can get your CSS started with these formats, but don't worry about CSS layout yet.

This is not to be turned in, but you must do it at home. Then on Wednesday, you will be marked present if you have yours done. While I walk around and look at your screen, you can pair up and help each other check for accuracy.

PS. Believe it or not, there is nothing really new to learn here. If you want to try the entire emulation on your own, just use a different stylesheet for your practice.