The temperature will be in the mid 70's for the entire weekend — from 72-77°. There will be a little bit of rain, however.

Food for Thought

We are thankful for all of the donations of food and supplies by family members. It's truly going to be a blessing. A small amount of additional fees, however, will still need to be collected once we arrive. Also, the Culinary Committee will receive funds from the treasury to help with food and supplies.

SEED FUNDS—A Good Idea

The Seed Funds account now contains $557, thanks to the generosity of a few family members. This savings account is used to keep us from having to pay monthly bank fees. Please consider contributing some spare change to Seed Funds account. You can contribute now or later on, but please don't forget.

Between the Linens

On October 26, 2012, not long after the last reunion, Clara and I were talking excitedly about Linen Reunion 2012. Then we came up with this stupendous idea!!

What about a kind of informal journal of our time together? We felt that for 2014, it would be great for those who like to write, to jot down some of the events during the weekend. Then afterwards, whatever they wish to share, we will compile into something like a newsletter or private blog. And soooo...if you want to do that, bring your journal with you, or you can ask Mary for one. And of course, you can write your journal electronically if you wish.

Committees

Thanks to all who have volunteered to serve on a committee. Even if you haven't, just pitch in when you arrive. It's your reunion, and it's always more fun with lots of participation.

Get ready to have some financial fun.

Kids and adults alike will be involved with this with our Financial Peace activities.

GOODBYE to MyFamily.com, our little nest of memories which closed down in September. I saved all 1,033 pictures and 675 pages of news. I will share one of these days, but we should figure out how to keep it among family. It contains beautiful history.
